

AVIAN FLU ALERT

Arkansas poultry growers, both commercial and backyard hobby flocks, need to review biosecurity protocol in light of the HPAI H5N1 avian influenza strain being found in the USA.

Keep your birds safe with these biosecurity guidelines:

- Keep Your Distance
- Recognize the Signs of Illness
- Clean and Disinfect
- Do Not Bring Disease Home With You
- Practice Good Vermin Control

UofA

DIVISION OF AGRICULTURE
RESEARCH & EXTENSION

University of Arkansas System

Get Help/Report Anything Unusual in Your Birds

- John G. Nilz, DVM, Arkansas State Veterinarian. john.nilz@agriculture.arkansas.gov 501- 297-2250
- F. Dustan Clark, DVM, Arkansas Extension Poultry Veterinarian: fdclark@uark.edu, 479-957-4245
- Terry Conger, DVM, Poultry Health /Epidemiologist: Terry.H.Conger@aphis.usda.gov, 501- 224-9515

For more information visit our webpage:

uaex.uada.edu/avian-flu